35+ Years of Experience ~

JPS Fundraising owner/writer, Joan P. Snyder, has served area non-profits and community causes in a variety of public relations, marketing and fundraising roles. If you are seeking a professional with a proven track record of successful fund and friend-raising to help with your grant writing needs, consider making an appointment with me for a complimentary client prospect meeting.

Following a Passion ~

After a very rewarding career of managing and executing fundraising and public relations projects and publications, organizing hundreds of special events and directing thousands of volunteers, committees and employees in a variety of non-profit settings, it was time to return to my roots as a writer. My passion has always been to engage and persuade through the written word. From my early days as an intern at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital to my most recent writing assignments my goal is always to capture the essence of a story and make the reader want to read more, learn more, do more for the cause. If you have a story to tell, I pledge to tell it with passion, compassion and accuracy.
